BANK CHANCE apparently did one good thing, when he lost his temper and shied the bottle back into the bleachers. From all over the country sounds a chorus of protest against the rowdy bleacherite and a reform of some kind seems assured. In the American league it is now proposed to fine $100 the chib on whose grounds bottles or similar missles are thrown at pinyers On race in New Jersey may have to be many of the National league grounds the sale of drinks of any kind in the bleachers will be prohibited, and thus the rowdles will be deprived of their ammunition. The minor lengues are taking action, and altogether the result of that unfortunate epimode is likely to bring lasting good to the game. A base ball game is no place for a rowdy, either on the field or in the scats.

Cleveland's bid for first place was badly jarred by the Athletics, but New York gave the Sox a terrible jolt about the same time, so it didn't hurt much. In the meantime Hugh Jennings has his Detroit scoring machine in pretty good shape, and is likely to take a hand in the game himself. All of which means that the finish in the American is to be as bruising this season as it was last.

That it is in a way a public nulsance there | terior, can be no doubt, because it will close to travel so many thoroughfares which people would like to use on the day of the race. What is the Remedy?

If the proposed race is not desired it may be stopped, because the law authorizing it viciously violates the federal and state constitutions. To prevent the execution of the unconstitutional provisions of the law an injunction will avail, and to forestall a criminal violation of the statutes of New tained. From many points of view the anneunce-ment that all the reserved seats at the championship tournament now proceeding at Wimbledon bad been booked some weeks at Wimbledon had been booked some weeks in advance may be regarded with satisfaction. There are special reasons why in the case of this game the number of noncombatant visitors to the great tournament of the year can be taken as a rough measure of its extension and why the spectators of the championship matches may be believed to be for the most part representative of soild growth in the multitude of those to whom the introduction of lawn tennis has afforded wholesome exercise and recreation. Little experiences of such gatherings is required to convince one that no more craze or propensity is fostered by attending them. After waiting patiently for three weeks for his arm to round into shape and undergoing various treatments, the stubborn whip was put under the X-ray and the hospital surgeons found that the bone was broken, and the whole affair had to be slupped into a plaster cast to wait for further orders. In the main bone of the forearm a lengitudinal break was discovered, and the split bone will have to knit together securely before McGann can again take his job at first. The doctors explained that a longitudinal break is one that runs lengthwise of the bone instead of crosswise, as is usual in such cases. For that reason they are very hard to discover, and but for the X-ray Big Dan might have been still waiting for the soreness to get out of his wing. This news came as a deep disappointment to the other members of the team, who want the captain back in the game. The Harrishurg club has two noted veterans on its roster of players. both of whom were big league stars. One is Bill Schriver, the catcher, who saw long service on various big league teams and who once tried to catch a ball thrown from Washington monument. The other is Kip Selbach, who played in New York, Washington and Boston, and in his time shone luminously as a batter and outfielder.

JOHNSON IS THE PITCHING KID Wonderful Record of Washington's New Twirler.

SPOKANE, Wash, July 20.-Walter Johnson, a native of California, born at Anafor the Kansas City team of the American helm nineteen years ago, whose record as association, and Mike Grady, a veteran of a twirler is without parallel in base ball history, has signed a contract to pitch for doing backstop duty for the Wilmingtons the American league team of Washington, of the Tri-State league. Johnfavorite in Philadelphia and Louisville, is son opened the season with the Weiser team of the Idaho State league at Welser, south of Spokane, and up to June 30 had pitched seventy-five innings without a hit being scored against him. He struck out 161 men in hinety-nine innings, pitched played in games in which his team scored ninety-eight runs to its opponents' five. Johnson is credited with striking out eighteen men in each of several games. In one game he retired the first eight men to face him, while eleven others did not reach first base. While in California playing with the Olinda team, he pitched forty-nine innings without a hit being scored by the opposing team. While his performances have never been approached by the big leagues, Johnson is modest. He goes about his work on the diamond in a businesslike way and is good natured throughout, never questioning the decisions of the man with the indicators In himself and in this, coupled with his headwork, he has made more than good in a state league composed of fast and heady catches for and manages the Montreal players, brought to this part of the northof the Jersey Citys is another former big middle west, east and Pacific coast.
